Fake id's and belly shirts and low cut jeans make it shake it take it break it everyone's gonna see you it's all you ever knew rushing so fast to grow up but who are you trying to please? deception misconceptions and your dives and lies you'll do what it takes

you love the look you love the chase you love the life so take it have it down it and wish it now you wish you knew

you're dying to live
yet you're living to die you'll live as you'll never die and die like you've never lived rushing to grow up desire to be young you'd take it all
but you can't take back what you never had to begin you only can wish you can go back again start all over and slow it down take your time and remember

act like it doesn't phase you and you don't care smile and lie and your inside cries and always wondering why now you can't go back 'cause you've missed out

but you can't take back what you've never had to begin

and you wish you knew
