Now just an enemy.
life is just so short to understand I vow to set a new light never again blurring one of two lines life lessons learned your useless and dead to me This is the only way to show you my resentment by carving my love into your chest.

Burn the bridge down burn it down

only classified through the eyes of a shut out mind pulling away is a must drifting apart is an ode to us no regard for anyone else but yourself I was killing myself

I had to unify this within myself.
For the last time I was killing myself only to save you.
Look deep into these eyes and tell me that this was real at one time now just an enemy, faded black memories
