My heart was beating slowly At least it was, until i saw you and now its beating faster as my eyes are chasing after you everyone they see right through you but i can look into you and see and time is moving slower as she starts to get closer to me and oh, california's so far so far away from here

so lets pretend that we're there tonight we'll watch the sun
go down right here together and we'll wait for the moonlight all those other girls get old conversations start to get cold and i quit (i wont wquit on you) but with you no its not like that your something really special your, different (and i like that) im out side of your window waiting fro you to let me know (just how you feel) we're just like romeo and juliet except we're (real)

so far away from here
and we'll wait for the moonlight
