We used to be in love but now were nothing, nothing more than what we were before we ever kissed it was good then it was gone and you wont be the last one so you don't need to worry about this and i liked it how we were but you want and you want more until everything you have is gone but i think that we can take what we have and we can make something better than this ever was

you say "i love you"
but i know how you are you only want what you cant have
and right now thats my heart you say you want to start this over again
i never i that would say i don't really think I can you think you got it all and then you blink and then you don't and theres nothing you can do about it she said "you'll find something better you will i know you will" but i cant find something better than this and maybe when i'm gone you'll realize you were wrong and maybe then we can fix this all up ill hold you close i wont let you go just hold on to me just hold on to our love

you say "i love you"
