Oh, no, you let her go
Do you find another or do you just stay at home
Oh, no, the fun is gone
Do you go farther or do you just stay alone

As you lie awake with nothing left to do
As you lie alone with no one to turn to
And as you lie obsessed with her you find nothing new
As you lie depressed you wish you were not through

Oh, lonely is the dawn
And the day is shadowed as if the sun has never shone
Oh, and the night is cold
And you can't swallow that you story has been told

As you lie awake with nothing left to do
As you lie alone with no one to turn to
And as you lie obsessed with her you find nothing new
As you lie depressed you wish you were not through

So what happens next?
You don't know
Will you change the text?
Or keep it so?
You're somebody's ex,
Nothing more
All the bad effects
Of letting her go

"All over" was the code
That would push the button
That would make your heart explode
"All over" and you float
To the very bottom
That by now has never showed

As you lie awake with nothing left to do
As you lie alone with no one to turn to
And as you lie obsessed with her you find nothing new
As you lie depressed you wish you were not through
