With nicely wrapped blankets. They had poison and they drank
It. The smoke of their confession is always blown away with Aggression. Open up your heart and take a look inside.
You Could fill the ocean of emptiness with the tears of happi-Ness you hide. You try to revenge my refusal by pouring Poison along my path. I know you know I know, so say no, no!
You try to forget what you regret when you pull your blank-

Ket over your head. But most times it?s a waste of time.
Cause today, the sun shines! Don?t fill yourself with empti-Ness. Where?s the happiness in emptiness? You?ve filled me Full of filth but I could cleanse it clean. I?ve refilled my Water from the neverending well of bliss. I offer you my Cup, and I say drink up! Empty that glass of emptiness.
