

411"Something That I'm Missing"Visit "Something That I'm Missing" on MotoLyrics.com

Is this over your head
I can't begin to explain
Have I been misled
With every tear you she'd

It's hard enough with the pain
The pain of knowing this will never be yours and mine

Can you handle the truth if it's the last thing that you get from me
This year felt like a life time
Can you handle the truth if it's not what you want
The last twelve months have been worthless
You better get used to this meaning nothing to me

Whisper in my ear alone at night
I remember every word you said
I just can't help myself
When the words on your lips
Match the ones on mine
This feeling gets me every time

Can you handle the truth if it's the last thing that you
get from me
This year felt like a life time
Can you handle the truth if it's not what you want
The last twelve months have been worthless
You better get used to this meaning nothing to me

Alone at night when you whisper in my ear
Keep it up son better not stop now Chances are someday you'll make your mark on the world

This is the most sincere statement that I have ever written
Guess it goes to show that there's some things you missed
As twelve months passed us by
Some tears you never she'd Lines you never read

There's a few that I left unsaid
I have to give up
I wanna let go
But I just keep falling back in
I'm so terrible in these situations
Why do I make this so hard on myself
Chances are you'll never make your mark
Chances are you'll never leave this spot
This is everything to me and I will not let this die

Can you handle the truth if it's the last thing that you
get from me
This year felt like a life time
Can you handle the truth if it's not what you want
The last twelve months have been worthless
You better get used to this meaning nothing to me

Visit 411 page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.