What's the matter with your soul today
Think it might just be too late
Try and give it just a little thought
Stop staring at the sun

Sometimes I get a little lost
Don't know what's going on
But I know I'll be ok
The things you do that make you true and make you who you are
I hope they are here to stay

And I still wonder
Where you are
And I still wonder
Where I am

What would happen if I find my way?
Would it take away the pain?
Is my love supposed to turn to hate
Can you see it in my face?

Sometimes the fear of losing you makes me just lose control
And throw it all away
The things you say the name you wear the color of your hair
Will change again some day

And I still wonder
Where you are
And I still wonder
Where I am

And I need and I want
And I need to be
And I need to see
I wish you would see,
Who I am
