Well it seemed so easy
In theory but now
It seems I'm stuck in reality
Oh you left me standing
In that appathetic glow
I'm undeserving of anything
Except the peace in your mind

So tell me why does the rain fall quiet on the stone steps
Sitting on the front porch staring at the sunset Crying through my teeth thinking why haven't you come back yet
And tell me why does the rain fall quiet on the stone
Sitting on the front porch staring at the sunset
Crying through my teeth thinking why haven't you come

It was something that you taught to me
It was something when I thought we could be more
But I can't let this go
The thought that you were here for me
Barricade the door wait for you to save me Turns out it was all a bunch of lies
But I've got to let you know why can't you stay

And tell me why does the rain fall quiet on the stone
Sitting on the front porch staring at the sunset
Crying through my teeth thinking why haven't you come
And tell me why does the rain fall quiet on the stone
Sitting on the front porch staring at the sunset
Crying through my teeth thinking why haven't you come

But tell me how you just decide to justify through your lies
(I was not the one who let you go)

But tell me how you just decide to justify through your
lies
(I was not the one who let you go
As long as your hear tonight)

As long as your hear tonight

A rekindled flame burns brightly tonight
Running through the tattered streets
When all my voices were cut short Confused and uncertain a wasted effort
Man up and live your life
Damn the consequences
It was everything you wanted
But you just had to through it away

And I've got to let you know
That my life is in your hands
And I've got to let you know
That this time I understand That we are exactly where I thought we were But now this time I've got to let you go

'Cause I was not the one who let you go (x2)
I was not the one who let you go
