Main Street U.S.A., boarded up and dry
Knowin' what once was here just makes me wanna cry
Used to be the favorite place here
Now what remains are memories even time cannot erase

Old man Johnson's store where we grew up too fast
All that remains today are echoes from the past
Used to be a boomin' town yeah
Now all that's left is either broken up or broken down

Singing, "Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
Where we used to belong
There ain't nobody home
Said, "Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
You can knock all you want
But ain't nobody home

Packed up, moved away, runnin' from the past
Leavin' behind the dusty dreams and broken glass
Used to be a busy town now
Now everybody passes through but they don't stick around

Singing, "Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
Where we used to belong

There ain't nobody home
Said, "Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
You can knock all you want
But ain't nobody home

Oh was a news stand on the corner
Right next to the barber shop
And down the street there
That's where all the kids would stop
And they would tease the neighbor's bulldog
Laugh and run away
Now there's no one left who knows the truth in what you say
(Say)

Now everybody passes through but they don't stick
Singing, "Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
Where we used to belong
There ain't nobody home
Said, "Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
You can knock all you want
But ain't nobody home

"Oh ah oh ah oh ah oh"
Where we used to belong
There ain't nobody home
Talk all you want
But ain't nobody home
Knock all you want
But ain't nobody home
