Baby, why you running Do you need some attention from me Do you see us coming to the end of a beautiful thing

It ainÂ't nothing like it used to be The love we had is just a memory There ainÂ't no reason why we both could be Just close enough that weÂ're too blind to see

Baby, lÂ've been trying But it seems lÂ've been trying for so long This maybe where we started But this may not be where we belong

We go on and we play it day by day We know all the words to say Though thereÂ's nothing left here to lose I still run to you

It ainÂ't nothing like it used to be The love we had is just a memory ItÂ's just a game where we both seem to be Just close enough that weÂ're too blind to see

We go on and we play it day by day We know all the words to say Though thereÂ's nothing left here to lose I still run to you

And we play it day by day We know all the words to say Though thereÂ's nothing left here to lose We go on and we play it day by day We know all the words to say Though thereÂ's nothing left here to lose
