I'm not really scared I just like the way that those words sound when they fall from my mouth and I say them too you louder love Sometimes my hands clap louder than everyone else But that's the way it stands Cause I want to clap the loudest

But I got scared That you might be a better me than me Yeah I got so scared That you might be a better me than me

You can take my socks but you damn well better leave my gloves Cause I need my hands to be warm like everybody else's Once my hands are warm I can give them to you and then say Please do all you can well my fingerprints will stay the same

But I got so scared That you might be a better me than me Yeah I got so scared That you might be a better me than me

We know someone that got so scared at the supermarket and you were there And I get to hold their hand cause they'll get scared again and they'll get scared again

But I'm not really scared I'm not really scared
