"New Year's Day"

The needle's in hand,
But I cannot sew.
My heart's a worn thing
Like a sweater with holes.
It all fades
New year's day.

The rain creeps in
Through the crack in the door,
Like the guilt that seeps
From my head to the floor.
We'll all wait for...

New year's day, I'll wake up
In the same familiar way.
Where I end, we'll begin
We'll do it all over again.
'Cause it's just another year that slipped away
From me

There's a place that kills
With walls that I know
I've got a coffin to sleep in,
It's not a bed but a hole.
This face in the mirror
Just won't go away,
It hides in the room
Stares me right in the face.
And it all fades...

New year's day, I'll wake up
In the same familiar way.
Where I end, we'll begin
We'll do it all over again

And it's just another year that slipped away
It's just another year that slipped away
It's just another year that slipped away
It's just another year that slipped...

On new year's day, I'll wake up
In the same familiar way

Where I end, we'll begin
We'll do it all over again.
'Cause it's just another year that slipped away
