Take this awful pain
That cracked the spinal code transmission to my brain
Before my eyes the birth of textures
And the stimulating feeling in my sensors
Memories like medications are there to break my fall
But dangerous mixed with
And is it the voice that I tend to believe Wait a minute your stomachs filled with such hierocracy
And is it the fact that you're an ordinary American
Cause when we get home
Will you be there to show me all the pieces
That I've never seen before
And when you are sure
The life that I have left behind
Because it is now washed up on the shore
Place these citizens into a situation where they have to live

Eye for an eye
They never figured
There was another side and backlash to he pleasure
And is it the voice that I tend to believe
Wait a minute your stomachs filled with such
hierocracy
And is it the fact that you're an ordinary American
Cause when we get home
Will you be there to show me all the pieces
That I've never seen before
And when you are sure
The life that I have left behind
Because it is now washed up on the shore
Her memories like medication they're there to break my fall
So im burning down the hospital
