I've been here for an hour
Just thinking about what to say
I thought you'd have all the
Answers out by now
But you just turn and walk away.

It took me a day just to get here
Another day to settle in
It took me a long time to remember
The concrete that binds is wearing thin.

I don't want to wait for chances to
Come, I've had enough and my
Time will come before long
You're time is up today,
Just walk away.

The time has come for you to tell me
And I don't want it second hand
You're keeping hold of the future
The conflict I don't understand

I don't want to wait for chances to
Come, I've had enough and my
Time will come before long
You're time is up today,
Just walk away.

Leave a light on

I've been here for a lifetime
The time has come to muscle in
I know it's hot for a Tuesday
To separate is to begin.

I don't want to wait for chances to
Come, I've had enough and my
Time will come before long
You're time is up today,
Just walk away.
