It all happened so fast
Speeding off into the distance
That night I wish you could have taken control

To steer clear from your last breath (your last breath)
Such a short 18 years (x2)

Lost again
Oxygen is escaping
Your fate is embracing (x2)

This road tells a story of a life cut short (x2)
Sirens are the sound (x2)

That I hear in the back of my mind
You leaving this world left us falling apart limb by limb
Never getting over the loss of a loved one (of a loved one)

That morning we all stood mourning, coming to terms with this reality
I believed the world stopped spinning (x2)

To steer clear from your last breath (your last breath)
Such a short 18 years (x2)

Now gone (now gone)
I wish you could see me now (see me now)
You'd be so proud, my dearest friend
I'll see you walking, my dearest friend
