Show me where your car is parked
And I'll drive it for you
I am made of light and dark
But I shine before you
All this water you've charted
On this blue ocean
I can't stop what you've started

And when I say
Oh, "don't you want me?
Don't you need me?"
Cause I, I feel let down
The same red ruby,
Blood flows through me
But I don't feel it now

Show me where you lost your heart
And I'll find it for you
But all these strings on my guitar
They won't solve this for you
All this ice that you've broken
Won't hold you up from

All these lies that you've spoken
And when I say
Oh, "don't you want me?
Don't you need me?"
Cause I, I feel let down
The same red ruby,
Blood flows through me
But I don't feel it now

Cause all these doctors say that
This is an emergency
I'd give my eyesight for
A little bit of urgency
Or just some signs of life
Consider this a courtesy
From me to you
Cause I don't know how Much longer I can drive you home

Oh, the same red ruby,
Blood flows through me
But I don't feel it now

(Don't you want me now?)
It's just a little closer to your grave
(Don't you need me now?)
But I still remember all the things you gave me

Cause all these doctors say
That this is an emergency
I'd give my eyesight for
A little bit of urgency
Or just some signs of life from you
Or just some signs of life from you
Or just some signs of life from you
