Something about waking up in the night
Crying out to a friend but no answer
Bring to me questions
Put thoughts in my mind
Pray for help but things never get better

I just need a little glance, just a hint there is hope for me
Protection from all the bad weather
Keep crying out to you
Hoping serenity falls on me
Have faith you will give me the answer

Something about all the tears in my eyes
Can't describe all the pain that I'm feeling
So alone in this house
And I can't quite decide what to do
With the life I am leading

Please forgive me
For all of the sins
Please come wash my hands clean
Catch me now
As I'm falling apart
And rebuild what is then left of me
