Andrew Hilty
"Geeks In Love"

Visit "Geeks In Love" on MotoLyrics.com

Geeks In Love I've been analyzin', Classifyin'
Can't describe the way that I feel,
I have calculated the equation telling me that love could be real,
I've been differ-ifferentiating,
Trying' to figure out what to do,
And the statistics and the numbers they all point me straight back to you.
Thinking' of you gives me sweaty hands,
It takes a geek like me to understand
That we're geeks in love
A cumulative IQ of three hundred or above
Yeah we're geeks in love
You are the one I've been dreaming of.
You remind me of a Vulcan princess every time you walk through the door,

Bobby Fisher would've wished he could have had a mind half like yours.
Oh my program's over-ridden, all my reason and my logic are gone,
What I'm gettin' at here baby is you turn my hard drive on.
Thinking' of you gives me sweaty hands,
It takes a geek like me to understand
That we're geeks in love
A cumulative IQ of three hundred or above
Yeah we're geeks in love
You are the one I've been dreaming of.
I think you're fine,
I think you're smart,
Come on and let me solve
The quadratic equation to your heart.
We're geeks in love

Visit Andrew Hilty page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.