I open my eyes and
I stare into yours
Such beautiful colors
Stream straight through these doors
Life goes on without me
Or as it may seem
And I'm fine with that
It's all like a dream

I'll look to the left
When you to the right
I never could find
The meaning that night
Enveloped in something
That's larger than life
I lost track of all that
I once could do right

Now I've seen the real you
And know I will stay
The difference is so clear
Just like night and day
I wish I could stop it
Just like a still frame
But time is on going
I know that can't change

Too good to be true
It never could last
I still don't know how
It fell through so fast
Enveloped in something
That's larger than life
I lost track of all that
I once could do right
