Waiting for something to start i never thought life could tear me apart this way it's just a phase that i'm going through i've done it all and it's all that i can do you say you could save the world for me i knew i'd ruin it all too easy so easy, can't please me don't leave me here alone just let me start again 'cause it feels like a nightmare to
me
and im waking to this amazing end if it's the only way i see you can say it's just a broken dream you can pretend you know how much it means to fight for something and lose it all to realize that you're up against a wall tell me what i need to hear my dear i'll be alright and everything will begin to clear at least it can't get any worse if i could fight long enough i could break this but again i slip and fall losing what i can't replace i can't answer when you call if only just to say some things i don't know what i was doing before but i just can't take this bullshit anymore someone's keeping score

just let me start again 'cause it feels like a nightmare to
me
and im waking to this amazing end
just let me start again 'cause it feels like a nightmare to
me
and im waking to this amazing end if it's the only i see
