I've written my life with two left thumbs
But I've pages to go and volumes to come
You can picture my face in black and white
'Cause all my colors are out of sight
Yeah, all my colors are out of sight

As I sail off from my homeland toward the center of all things
Working for my maker, slaving for kings

Stars align, stars of mine

It was 44 years this very day
When I first caught sight of the worldly way Through an endless series of hoops since then
Oh, one more hoop won't hurt this man
No, one more hoop won't hurt this man

I'll climb this thunderbird and rest my head upon it's wing
Fly into your arms, wishing only for one thing

Stars align, stars of mine

We've danced our days on two left feet
Different drummers but a steady beat
And when the last dance finally comes along
It's you and me, it'll be our song
Oh, you and me, it'll be our song

I climb this thunderbird, rest my head upon it's wing
Fly into your arms, wishing only for one thing

Stars align, stars of mine
