Last night I dreamt we were in Heaven
Where did it go?
Last night I thought we were forever
What did I know?

No matter how hard I always try
It seems like nothing changes
No matter how long I always cry
This vision rearranges

And if you forgive we both could live
In a life that was made for you and me
A love so strong it carries on
In a life that was made for you and me

Last night I felt your arms around me
Holding me tight
Last night your eyes burned deep inside me
Something's not right

And if you forgive we both could live
In a life that was made for you and me
A love so strong it carries on
In a life that was made for you and me
