Trapped, shackled by four chains, strapped to a wall, tormented day by day, living life in Fear, hunger sets in now pain begins, rats naw my flesh, infected limbs are Left, nothing to see, nothing to hear, only screams of anguish followed by Tears, wishing to die, the luxury its time I've lost control the sixteenth chamber has taken my soul

Screams ripping through the air, bloodstained walls everywhere. People dying lives are lost this is my own holocaust.
Me existence torn from mind, flowing fast like the sands of time. Please lift this horrid curse, living in a world of hurt

Life line of consciousness, overshadowed by lancination. Barely subsiting breathing, living with the dead

Trapped, shackled by four chains, strapped to a wall, tormented day by day, living life in
anguish followed by
Tears, wishing to die, the luxury its time I've lost control
the sixteenth chamber has taken my soul
