We travel below the world of our conspiracies
But never shall we plead with peace
So tell me how, how can you believe
But still disagree

On the hills of this lonely destruction
You drag this on
But still expect sympathy
When death comes your way

The sky screamed, and it cried
But we crawled back into our holes
And we forgot where we were
Oh self, your sense of love is fading
And you aren't the world tonight

I'm frickin' dead
So preach on you lonely sinners
I'll show you what's more real
More real, than what you'll ever feel
You'll ever feel
I will burn this place down, I'll show you something real
I'll show you how your heart is hollow, you're so hollow
This place is dead just like your pointless beating heart
I'll show you how your heart is hollow, you're so hollow

The bricks became our bed, with hollow regret
And thus screams, "rest your head beautiful liars"
But who can sleep with blooded liturgy
Even with a side of death ridden sympathy
Because this life is a question
And we sleep where we want to
At the bottom of the sky

At the bottom of the sky
At the bottom of death
So death won't scream louder
Die alone, without regret
Sing this song on your last breath

The sky screamed, and it cried
But we crawled back into our holes

And we forgot where we were
Oh self, your sense of love is fading
And you aren't the world tonight

This place is burning down
