You're like the morning bright
You're still the queen of the night
You're my reason to live this life
You're my energy to fight a lie

We bring ourselves outside from the land of sin
Where breathes the peace of mind
We bring ourselves outside of our bones and skin
Where your eyes gave me the sign

However, you're so far away from me
As the stars in the night
Where everything began
Long ago out of your sight
However, I'm so far away from you
Like a sweet kiss of the sun
Shining bright in my heart
Enough to give me strength to run

You're like my daily medicine
You're still like an innocent child
You're hope for my broken heart
You're like a bloody poison dart

We bring ourselves to the limit of everything
Where lies are truth inside
We bring ourselves on the edge of a broken wing
Where we begin our ride

However, you're so far away from me
As the stars in the night
Where everything began
Long ago out of your sight
However, I'm so far away from you
Like a sweet kiss of the sun
Shining bright in my heart
Enough to give me strength to run

I died for you
I lied because of you
I'll fight for you until I've won your cold heart tonight

However, you're so far away from me
As the stars in the night
Where everything began
Long ago out of your sight
However, I'm so far away from you
Like a sweet kiss of the sun
Shining bright in my heart
Enough to give me strength to run
