I remember the days
When everything was good
Everything was you and I
I try to don't think
About the time spent
Laughing and joking together you and I

When I feel my heart explode
I just found my way to love
When I try to forget it all
You are knocking at my door

I remember when you
Gave me the chance to hope in a future
Without any lies
I try to believe
That it was justified defend your mistakes

When I feel my heart explode
I just found my way to love
When I try to forget it all
You are knocking at my door

And I know
What you want from me
What you want from me
But we know
That we don't laugh anymore
We don't laugh like before

When I feel my heart explode
I just found my way to love
When I try to forget it all
You are knocking at my door

When I feel my heart explode
I just found my way to love
When I try to forget it all
You are knocking at my door
