I've seen visions awakening drawing timeless life to an end I've felt forces pulling me and I have rejoiced in them

I've heard voices calling names I have reveled in their beckoning for the voices that summon me have grown immense

my senses keen with desire and pain senses heightened by my need to see to feed the hunger that I feel inside awake my soul to ecstasy my father the forsaken the king of blasphemy

they cower at your name they live in ignorance they hide behind a doctrine that has taught them only lies now let them see thy world, immaculate

I've heard voices calling my name I have waited for their beckoning
bring the gift of bliss
