awaken my brothers,
of vengeance we rise to devulge this enemy, to enlighten the ones who sleep worlds have passed and so too has time my slumber now disturbed, this place of hate, thy worlds shall burn humans, I shall feast upon your ignorance. you will destroy yourselves mortals, your slithering existence sickens the gods, my brothers it awoke me, from timeless sleep my dreams destroyed, my visions lost and so I watch you pray, and spite your worlds forgive me father ? I am not your god you crawl to me, and beg to me my sheep, you have fallen, curse your empty lives blind, like wolves you turn on yourselves
