Every cut on your skin signs the memory of all the dreams you bled away, We eat your heart with a last cold kiss, as your soul is ours to sway

There, deep inside you,
where these serpents grow

Every scar on your flesh shows every dream that you killed and one of us you made

There, deep inside you,
where these serpents grow

They're singing in the dark,
These serpents where they hide

All growing in your heart,
These serpents deep inside
Now they're coming into the light,
These serpents cease to hide

Listen to them, they're in your heart Listen to them, they're in your hand
Only the blade can set you free Only your blood can remedy
Now let the blade let them all out, Now let your blood all satisfy all these serpents
all these serpents
