Deep in the burning raging seas
Upon the world on which I fall
Deep in the depth of this new flesh burns my soul

Out of heavens, god cast me away
All my kingdom fallen with me
Now that everything's fading away
Now that all light is gone in me
Now I fall all alone

As I lick my open wounds

Empty veins that still carry the vain beauty of severed wings
Fall in the rivers of disease throes of pain that never cease

Deep in the burning raging seas
Upon the world on which I fall
Deep in the depth of this new flesh burns my soul
Out of heavens, god cast me away
All my kingdom fallen with me
Now that everything's fading away
Now that all light is gone in me

Like a blaze upon the world,
A bliss of fire in the skies
As I sear the heart of night, holding back my innocence
Burnt my wings during the fall,
Burnt my face and lost my crown
As I sear the heart of night,
holding nothing anymore

Empty veins that still carry
the vain beauty of severed wings

Burnt my face and lost my crown,
Burnt my heart and lost my fucking soul
