

Angie Stone "Different Directions"

Visit "Different Directions" on MotoLyrics.com

One two, what we gonna do now that we're done
I know life goes on but we been together for so long
We been through it all, we had the best sex
We had the worse fights we had drama but it made me stronger
And hopefully strong enough to go through life without each other

In different directions we learn our own lessons
In different directions some two things must happen
What is meant to be will be for you and for me
Both the answer to our questions is in different directions

Three, four, I don't know
What the future got in store for both of us
But atleast we can take with us all of the memory's
Like the first kiss and the first hug
Like the first time that we made sweet love
Oh so special but now we got this mess to handle
In different directions we learn our own lessons
In different directions some two things must happen
What is meant to be will be for you and for me
Both the answer to our questions is in differered
directions

See I'll never find u in him, and you'll never find me in her
It's just one of those life experience a lesson learned.
See I'll never find u in him and you'll never find me in
her
It's just one of those life experience I have learned.

In different directions we learn our own lessons
In different directions some two things must happen
What is meant to be will be for you and for me
Both the answer to our questions is in different
directions

Visit Angie Stone page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

