You say that you want some more
Save your breath you won't get anywhere
Talkin to yourself you know you're a numbered casualty
You're climbing high but will you rise up again?
Nothing can save your soul
When envy has no rest
So you're saying that you are someone!
Who owes you more than anyone?
Your fire is set by your desires
Talk is shit when you know that you're no fucking good!
Climbing high but will you rise up again?
Nothing can save you now
Envy has no Rest
Toss and turn the night away, nothing ventured nothing gained

It's all right? NO it's not right!
And you think you want it bad but in the end what's left when you're empty?
Totally empty!
What if life's a test? A battlefield for something else, if you don't make it, you never will...
Well I won't buy in!
Now you're saying that you are someone
Who the fuck do you think you are?
When you're served by your destruction
Simple minds live simple lives and so cannot be free.
Climbing High but will you rise up again?
Nothing can save your soul
Envy has no rest
