What's that you're saying?
You're in my mind again and I have to tell you;
Exactly how I feel.
There's no mistaking; boy you're killing me now.
I'm keeping my wits; this hasn't shaken me
For fear of losing you, in another round
I hope I make it, from what you're doing to me.

One look at you, you got me down on my knees
There has never been another who has made me this
way
And I can't help myself, 'cause I'm still holding onto you

I'll never forget the things we've done;
Watching movies and smoking all my pot.
There's no mistaking; boy you're killing me now.

The things that I've learned, and things I've taken;
How can I repay all the love that you gave to me.
There's no denying I'm tired of living alone.
One look at you, you got me down on my knees.
way
And I can't help myself, I'm still holding onto you
I'm still holding on and on until I reach the bitter end
You were not just my lover, but my closest friend
And I can't help myself, 'cause I'm still holding onto you

I'm still holding on...
