I am finding another lover, who isn't a drag who isn't a bore, I'm finding another love Well I stopped loving you and you stopped hugging me so that makes evens so why don't we cry, I stopped loving you oh

Day in day out, I think of you and winning back your heart
But it seems to me, you've broken in two and the love inside you fades

Well these tears start flowing and they don't stop flowing and I grow a beard, I get older thinking of you And even though I'm jealous that you don't really need me well I think you do and that makes me needy well I still think you need me

Day in day out, I think of you and winning back your
heart
But it seems to me, you've broken in two and the love inside you fades

When we're apart, I know you love me
You want me back, but you can't have me

Day in day out, I think of you, in a dream or in my songs
And I hear my breath as I heave a sigh
'cos there never was anyone else, in my mind
