I never thought I could love again
This broken heart could never mend
But as the walls came closing in
You took my hand with a devilish grin

But you were warm, you were kind
You stared deeply my eyes
You were something out of a book
And you're mine, all mine

This sweet current of my heart
Swirls around when it's on fire
But if you hurt me it will change the tide
Love lost once before is hard to find

But you were warm, you were kind
You stared deeply my eyes
You were something out of a book
And you're mine, all mine

Please, please carry me
Into the water, into the sea
Carve me out of your sweet mould
To make this love stand on its own

But you were warm, you were kind
You stared deeply my eyes
You were something out of a book
And you're mine, all mine

You were cool, you were calm
You fit snugly in my arm
Your red hair sets me alight
I want to be with you tonight
