Throw out all my thoughts, that's all I want to do
Theres things I want to say to you
I look up at the sky and close my eyes, and think of you

I've met noone like you before
I think I love you
And theres nothing I could want more
I think I love you

I feel happier today, I feel okay
Breathe in your sigh
I look up where you stand, and leave this land
You make me fly
Theres things that we both know
Can't let each other go

I've met noone like you before
I think I love you
And theres nothing I could want more
I think I love you

And to save you for something
You could watch me die and love this world without me on this stolen hill
I would multiply into a thousand words
And through your heart I'd come back to you and tell you to move on

Move on
Move on
Move on
Move on

I've met no one like you before
I think I love you
And theres nothing I could want more
I think I love you
