6 o'clock on a tube stop, waiting for a subway train
On my own, so alone, why does everybody look the same?
To the right there's a sign, telling me which way to go To the left there's an old man shouting at the radio, radio

Get out, get out, get out, yeah
Get out, get out, get out
Get out, get out, get out, yeah

6 o'clock on a tube stop, waiting for a subway train
On my own, so alone, why does everybody look the same?
There's a man with a gold band but he's got his eye on mine
There's a bomb in a sports bag, could go off at any time, at any time

When my knees don't work I start to shake
I won't panic, I won't hesitate
It's alright, it's okay
The daylight is that way
And we all go the same way

6 O 12 and I'm not well, gonna have a heart attack
Everyone is a bum, I'm gonna get my money back Over there there's a square, talking to his telephone
Then he stares at my hair and suddenly I'm not alone,
I'm not alone

Get out, get out, get out, yeah
Get out, get out, get out

When my knees don't work I start to shake
I won't panic, I won't hesitate
It's alright, it's okay
The daylight is that way
And we all go the same way

6 o'clock on a tube stop waiting for a subway train

When my knees don't work I start to shake
I won't panic, I won't hesitate
It's alright, it's okay
The daylight is that way
And we all go the same way

The daylight is that way
It's alright, it's okay
6 o'clock on a tube stop, waiting for a subway train
