Looking out through painted windows
Deep rooted and without a clue
Set aside all differences
And everything he's used to

Takes a walk and the water falls
Dries off so nobody knows
And all along he's been trying to break away

Waking up, feel a heart that's beating
Take a breath, feel that you're alive
Who would have guessed by being you
That you'd make it through this time?

Another case of a fucked up dreamer
Not knowing when to say when Believes in everything that he wants to believe in

All a part of his identity
Searches for happiness and makes it on belief, yeah
All in all it's just a fantasy, he runs around in circles
Trying to figure out just who it is, we are

(Looking through painted windows)
Your dreams become reality and fantasy's an opportunity
(Reality in dream)
Just take another look inside
Now take hold and tell me what you see

(Looking through painted windows)
New visions of a world now that's been passing by
And right before your eyes
(Nothing's as it seems)
A vision of the future and it seems fine

Live a day to ask another question
Get an answer, find another lie
How beautiful does it all seem
When looking from the inside?

Find out what makes you different

Hold true, don't turn away
In doing so don't you know that You're gonna break away?

We're a part of our worst enemy
Tear us down and try to make us believe, yeah
All in all we're in a fantasy, we run around in circles
Trying to figure out just who it is we are

(Looking through painted windows)
Your dreams become reality and fantasies an opportunity
(Reality in dream)
Just take another look inside
Now take hold and tell me what you see

(Looking through painted windows)
New visions of a world now that's been passing by
And right before your eyes
(Nothing's as it seems)
A vision of the future and it seems fine

And looking through painted windows
We hold onto our dreams
A moment passes by and it seems
To open the flood gate and let the future flow
You reach out and take a hold

Don't be blinded by the glare you see
Keep on and search, what makes you happy
Make it happen, go and dream, yeah
Dreams become a reality

Run with this life
Believe in all you've dreamed
And keep on trusting in
Who it is that you are, yeah, yeah, yeah
Just who it is you are, yeah, yeah, yeah
