I met you in Barcelona.
You just stood there in the rain
I had too much sangria,
And you're the one to blame

I was saving all my troubles for another rainy day
Cus she promised you'd stand by me
And chase this blues away

I had to catch an early flight home
I didn't get a wink of sleep
And night wasn't as lonely
And the dark didn't make me weep

I met you in Barcelona
You just stood there in the rain
I had too much tequila
And you're the one to blame

And if I ever lose my faith in Whatever faith there is to lose
I promise I'll come get you
And face the lonely blues

I met you in Barcelona
We just stood there in the rain
I had too much sangria
And you're the one to blame

Too much tequila..
And you're the one to blame.
