I said I'll wait for you
You said always fine
I said I'll come for u
You said, oh don't mind
And I'll be spending all my days
Writing you love poems
And then I'll hide them in secret places
Where you never look

And then you'd laugh and say
Oh you're so amusing
And then you'd smile and say
Oh you'll be alright

Say darling, you're such a melodramatic mess
And I'll be waiting for your loves prove
But your a little little bored by things I say
Yes ah, a little little bored by things I say

I said I'll die for you
You said it would be a waste
I said there is no limit to my love for you
You said I have no sense of taste
But I'll be spending all my life
Writing you love poems
And as if I couldn't close my eyes
Watch you in your sleep

And then you'd say to me oh you can't be serious
And though it's up to me
I just can't walk away
I'd say darling, my seriocity is all I got

And I'll be waiting for your loves prove
But your a little little bored by things I say
Yes ah, a little little bored by things I say
