The things that run in my blood
I just gave up so fast I've got nothing left to give secrets don't keep themselves I'm sick of hiding the answer from the question here what did I find in my head and no conviction and a fire that had gone out that lit up when the radio signal went out

Chorus

Lets look back,
I cant remember when,
The last time anything I said, meant anything,
But things change, things change, things change
Just as I slipped into the gaps between reception bars and I found myself one day
Chorus

Don't look back,
And set traps,
For myself to keep me in check,

Don't back track, Realise that,
The best defence is attack.
