What's happening to you?
Where did all your sadness come from?
What's happening to you?
I'm not your world to blame
I'm not your world to blame
And it's been going on
Since you gave me love I gave right back
And it's been to long
Find another shoulder to cry on
Find another shoulder to cry on

It's not me
You should count on
It's not me
You confide in now

Step out of the shadow
Step out of the dark and face the sun
You'll get along without her
You'll get along just fine with what you have
You needed no other
To complicate your life you need no love
Step out of her shadow
Soon all the pain within is gone

It's not me
You should count on
It's not me
You confide in now
