You build a heart
that's strong
Walls to last long
Its paper mache

You think the battle's won
No use for shields
And guns
You'll need them now
That the lump takes a home in your throat
With the words that You're choking
as you try
To tell yourself its ok
Flying by time to gaze
But never face

Your stuck in the moment when you thought you were rolling but you cant move on you feel like your able to love past the moment but you cant move on asking why asking why why i cant move on

You can't go please stay
No don't stay go
I'm left I'm right
I'm black I'm white
You ride a carrousel round and round till the sickness grows inside that lump takes a strangling hold squeezes tight till your cold and tears run dry and where you once were worm now is tattered and torn crumbles and fades

Your stuck in the moment when you thought you were rolling but you cant move on you feel like your able to love past the moment but you cant move on asking why asking why why i cant move on

Incomplete
Typical reaction
I can't get over over
Over you

This is how the story goes Glory in the moment

You can't move on cant move on cant move on

oh i cant move on

Your stuck in the moment when you thought you were
