

Annie Christian

"Someday My Prince Will Come Again"

Visit "Someday My Prince Will Come Again" on MotoLyrics.com

I wanted to believe but now I know they're all liars
Losing what mattered in pursuit of each other
In a clear moment we could hold each other
There is only this moment, there is no future

Some day my prince will come again
Another liar that they send to believe in
Selling the future they say just save yourself (they say)
Didn't you know that the world is changing

The garden's grown over the weeds have grown over
The sun is burning the life of the young
The life of the young in the hands of the useless
Is crack back breaking the heart

Someone saw Jesus selling New York
Another saw him selling the West
Selling chemical enhancers for spiritual answers
Selling the future
He said just save yourself

Some day my prince will come again
Another liar that they send to believe in
Selling the future they say just save yourself (they say)
Didn't you know that the world is changing

Visit Annie Christian page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.