How can I get inside you
I really need to fail
We're strangers now
I'll be your enemy
I'll play the role you want
I'll be better now
We talk through wires
Walk through narrow halls
Spend our days indoors
I want to feel
Something
Anything
I'm not the same
I swear I'll change

Was it just a waste of time
You should have stayed away
I would always find a way
To make you open up
To make you believe in me
Did you really mean
All the things you said to me
All the things I never told you
Until it was far too late
I feel nothing anymore
