It seems hard to believe
That all we see is all we need
In our world we live today
Still tomorrow's far away

We only think about living well
Our eyes are blind to the future hell
Our world's at risk, but we don't care
To what we do, we're unaware

We all agree we're not awake
Instead of acting we all sit and wait
Let's stop committing more mistakes
More mistakes
(One, two, one, two, one, two, three, four)

Left, right, up and down, turned upside down
That's how we treat the world right now
Can't hide the fact that it's happening

We can do our world some good
We can make a change, that's what we should
Time will tell us, but we must act now

The problem seems to be
That people need to see to believe
The only way to fix this now
Is to act and (not sit down)

We all agree we're not awake
Instead of acting, we all sit and wait
Let's stop committing more mistakes
More mistakes
(One, two, one, two, one, two, three, four)

Left, right, up and down, turned upside down
That's how we treat the world right now
Can't hide the fact that it's happening

Left, right, up and down, turned upside down
That's how we treat the world right now
Can't hide the fact that it's happening

We can do our world some good
We can make a change, that's what we should
Time will tell us, but we must act now

Left, right, up and down, turned upside down
That's how we treat the world right now
Can't hide the fact that it's happening

We can do our world some good
We can make a change, that's what we should
Time will tell us, but we must act now

We realise it, but we don't act
'Cause we grab on to what we have
We still can act, but we don't react
'Cause we only care about what we have
About what we have
(One, two, one, two, one, two, three, four)
