Like falling stars
We burn so bright for one last time
Like falling stars
We never have place to go
Like falling stars
We burn so bright for one last time
Like falling stars
We never know the truth

How can we deny
Everything we've known
Just fly across the night sky and let it go
Does every step make you further away?
I always wanted to believe that there's a way
But something slowly fades inside my heart

What does it take
To understand
That we've been making
Same mistakes again

So what's come over you?

The silence makes no sound
This heart is beating through
And as we touch the ground
I'll still be watching you
The silence makes no sound
This heart is beating through
And as I touch the ground
I hope your wish comes true

We burn so bright for one last time
Like falling stars
We never have place to go
Like falling stars
We'll stay forever young
So make a wish
And I will fall for you
