(1904-1993)

windswept and moonhung singing softly next to you oh sweet delicate woman where has all your strength gone to gone to ãfÂçâ, ã,Â!gone to where has it gone to softest hands
i take their frailness in my own hands
hands that mended children's dreams now grasp for mary's grace her grace ãfÂçâ, ã,Â!her grace sweet mother
guide her home
sweet, sweet mother guide her home ãfÂçâ, ã,Â!
sleep now woman
let the angels come to you and
in their wings
you will find peace
you will find peace
i know
