Anthem
"Predictable"

Visit "Predictable" on MotoLyrics.com

Something isn't right,
I can feel it again, feel it again.
This isn't the first time,
That you left me waiting.
Sad excuses and false hopes high,
I saw this coming, still I don't know why,
I let you in.

I knew it all along,
You're so predictable.
I knew something would go wrong… (Something's going wrong…)
So you don't have to call,
Or say anything at all.
You're so predictable… (So predictable…)

So take your empty words,
Your broken promises.
And all the time you stole,
Cause I am done with this.

I could give it away, give it away,
I'm doing everything I should've.
And now I'm making a change,
I'm living today.
I'm giving back what you gave me,
I don't need anything.

I knew it all along,
You're so predictable.
I knew something would go wrong… (Something's going wrong…)
So you don't have to call,
Or say anything at all.
You're so predictable… (So predictable…) Now everywhere I go,
Everyone I meet,
Every time I try to fall in love,
They all want to know why I'm so broken.

Why I am I so cold,
Why I'm so hard inside.

Why am I scared?
What am I afraid of?

I don't even know, this story's never had an end.
I've been waiting,
I've been searching,
I've been hoping,
I've been dreaming you would come back,
But I know the ending of this story.
And you're never coming back,
Never...

Never, never, never, never...
Never, never, never, never...
Never, never, never, never...

I knew it all along,
You're so predictable.
I knew something would go wrong... (Something's going wrong...)

So you don't have to call,
Or say anything at all.
So predictable... (So predictable...)

Everywhere I go for the rest of my life,
Everyone I love, (So predictable...)
Everyone I care about,
They're all gonna want to know what's wrong with me
And I know what it is... (So predictable...)
What it is is right now.